SCHEDULE 'B'

144 JOHN STREET EAST

Description of Property

The property is located on a corner lot, where John Street East intersects with Charlotte Street; the property generally follows an L-shaped plan. The property has vehicle access from John Street East marked by large red brick pillars that frame the entrance. There are multiple built structures associated with the property including: the main residential building (Devonian House or Sheet House) built in 1922, and the Coach House which was built c. 1860s. There are many mature trees on the property which represent a variety of species.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest

The property known as 144 John Street East has cultural heritage value or interest for its design and physical values, its historic/associative values and its contextual values.

The property has physical/design value for its 1920s, two and one-half storey main residence, known as the Sheet House or the Devonian House, which is a representative example of Colonial Revival House which was built and used as a summer home from c. 1920-1980. The property's c.1860 coach house is a unique local example of a coach house with Gothic Revival details and the concrete, brick and stone wall located along John Street East and Charlotte Street is a rare local example of a surviving estate wall that delineated a local estate boundary.

The property has historical/associative value for its direct associations with Hon. Peter Russel and William Dickson who were early owners of the property. The property is also directly associated with George Rand I who purchased the property in 1919. The property is most associated with Evelyn Rand and Henry Sheets, who built the existing house and used the property as a summer home until 1980. Evelyn Rand was a noted equestrian. In addition, the property was associated with the Devonian Group (now part of the Devonian Group of Charitable Foundations) and The Niagara Institute (now part of the Conference Board of Canada) which used the property for conference, seminars and as a place of teaching. Parts of the surviving landscape reflects the work and design of Howard and Lorrie A. Dunington-Grubb. The couple were pioneers in their field and well respected in the Canadian landscape architecture community.

The property has contextual value as it is important in defining, maintaining or supporting the character of an area. The large concrete, brick and stone walls that surround the property are important in defining the character of the John Street/Charlotte Street area. It also is physically, functionally, visually or historically linked to its surroundings. The property was originally part of the larger estate known as Randwood, which was owned by the Rand family from 1919 until 1980. It forms part of a larger significant cultural heritage landscape that includes all the grounds of the original estate. The property is visually and historically linked to the surrounding properties. Lastly, the property is a local landmark.

Description of Heritage Attributes

The cultural heritage value or interest associated with the property is represented in the following heritage attributes:
